A close-up, high-angle shot of a large pile of cooked crayfish. The crayfish are a rich, dark reddish-brown color, indicating they have been boiled. They are piled together, with their legs and claws visible. The lighting is bright, highlighting the texture of the shells. In the center of the image, the word "KRÄFTAN" is written in a large, bold, white, sans-serif font. The letters are slightly shadowed, making them stand out against the busy background of the crayfish. The overall composition is dense and textured, focusing on the details of the seafood.
